Declaration: Only 100% Pure Wildflower Honey is used to mix with the above mentioned ingredients. Each Stix has approximately 5g of honey. Air bubbles are naturally occurring in the Stix and over time larger bubbles may appear. Each Stix is practically free of foreign material ≤ 0.01% by weight (pollen, propolis, comb) the honey contains practically no defects that affect the appearance or edibility of the product. Free from all harmful foreign material (glass, wood, stones, etc).

Suggested Storage: The colours in the HoneyStix are sensitive to light and heat over time. The result may be a decrease in the intensity of the colour. The flavour will not be affected. Due to the characteristic of natural colors, HoneyStix will last approximately 12 months from the shipping date. The ideal storage temperature for HoneyStix is between 64 - 75°F.

Crystallization: HoneyStix may take on a semi-solid crystallized state due to its high sugar content. The rate honey crystallizes depends upon a variety of things such as floral source, moisture content, and storage. 52 -59°F is the optimal temperature for crystallizing honey. This crystallization does not affect the quality of the honey and is not an indicator of shelf life. In the event honey crystallizes, heating, which “melts” the crystals, will return it to a liquid state.
